The website also displays a 4.9 overall client rating and publishes customer testimonials. Those testimonials are reproduced in summary form in Section 8 and are presented as website-published customer experiences rather than independently verified performance data.

5. Booking and Customer Journey

Kapston describes the customer experience as a straightforward process for obtaining household help. The website's process section is presented visually and does not expose all of the step labels as machine-readable text; therefore this document does not invent step names.

The customer-facing operating model that is explicitly stated on the site can be documented as follows:

- Choose a service: Customers can select from the listed household, maintenance, personal-care and beauty categories.
- Book through multiple channels: The website states that customers can use the app, phone call, WhatsApp, SMS or even a missed call; online “Book Now” functionality is also promoted.

The website's legal Terms additionally state that Kapston Home Services is a technology-enabled marketplace connecting customers with independent service professionals and that Kapston does not directly provide home services.

6. Partner / Professional Opportunity

The website invites skilled professionals to work with the platform and frames the opportunity around steady work and fair earnings. Its stated broader purpose is to create sustainable, respectful earning opportunities and enable professional growth without exploitation.

The About page describes the professional proposition in terms of dignity, opportunity, growth, respect for time and skill, safety and meaningful impact. The Terms, however, expressly characterize service professionals as independent contractors.

Important distinction: “trained,” “background-verified,” “certified therapists,” and similar descriptors are claims made on individual website pages. The website does not provide, in the material reviewed, a public schedule of training curricula, verification vendors, certificates, insurance limits, or individual professional credentials. Such records should be maintained internally where relevant.

7. Kapston Services Foundation

The website states that Kapston Services Limited was established in Hyderabad in 2009 as a comprehensive Manpower Solutions Provider. It describes the broader business as providing General Staffing, Security Services, Integrated Facilities Management, Technical Services and IT Staffing tailored to client requirements.

The home-services website presents this background as the operational foundation behind its workforce-management, compliance and large-scale service-operations capabilities.

Website wording to verify internally: the site uses the heading “18 Years In Professional Service Delivery” while separately stating that Kapston Services Limited was established in 2009. Because the website is being used as the source, this document preserves both statements without attempting to reconcile them.

8. Customer Experiences Published on the Website
